American Songbook

In 1998, Lincoln Center launched American Songbook, dedicated to the celebration of popular American song. Designed to highlight and affirm the creative mastery of America's songwriters from their emergence at the turn of the 19th century up through the present, American Songbook spans all styles and genres, from the form's early roots in Tin Pan Alley and Broadway to the eclecticism of today's singer-songwriters. American Songbook also showcases the outstanding interpreters of popular song, including established and emerging concert, cabaret, theater, and songwriter performers. American Songbook presentations include major concert programs in venues around Lincoln Center.

Lincoln Center for the Performing Arts, Inc.

Lincoln Center for the Performing Arts (LCPA) serves three primary roles: presenter of artistic programming, national leader in arts and education and community relations, and manager of the Lincoln Center campus. As a presenter of more than 400 events annually, LCPA's series include American Songbook, Great Performers, Lincoln Center Festival, Lincoln Center Out of Doors, Midsummer Night Swing, and the White Light and Mostly Mozart Festivals. The Emmy Award-winning Live From Lincoln Center extends Lincoln Center's reach to millions of Americans nationwide. As a leader in arts and education and community relations, LCPA takes a wide range of activities beyond its halls through the Lincoln Center Institute, as well as offering arts-related symposia, family programming, and accessibility. And as manager of the Lincoln Center campus, LCPA provides support and services for the Lincoln Center complex and its other resident organizations.

FEBRUARY 2012

ROSE THEATER

Family Concert: What is Improvisation?

February 11, 1pm & 3pm

Drummer Matt Wilson and his Arts & Crafts ensemble will lead audiences through an interactive, hour-long program on the most fundamental and revolutionary component of jazz: improvisation. With infectious exuberance, Wilson and company will explore how jazz musicians communicate with their instruments and invent music in the moment.

Free pre-concert educational activities, 12:15 pm & 2:15 pm.

Stan Kenton Centennial

February 17-18, 8pm

Jazz in the 1950s oscillated between cool, hot, and hard bop. But none of those labels satisfied Stan Kenton, who instead called his jazz "progressive." In the 1940s he had a hit-making big band before he introduced the jazz world to his 40-piece orchestra, which featured such jazz stars as Lee Konitz. In this celebration of Kenton's Centennial, Konitz joins the Jazz at Lincoln Center Orchestra with Wynton Marsalis as they revisit the time when one jazz musician knew exactly where he was going: strictly forward.

Free pre-concert discussion nightly at 7pm.

Dianne Reeves

February 24-25, 8pm

Among the reasons Dianne Reeves has been at the top of the jazz world for over two decades is her fearlessness to explore new directions. This performance is no exception, as she unveils a reconfigured ensemble, which at various times will feature two guitars, African folk instruments, banjo, and mandolin. The added attraction of a newly-arranged repertoire of traditional Americana, roots, and classic blues is sure to make this one of the more highly anticipated shows of the season.

Free pre-concert discussion nightly at 7pm.

Free pre-concert music in the Atrium provided by Peter Reardon-Anderson.

THE ALLEN ROOM

John Hammond & John Mayall

February 16-17, 7:30pm & 9:30pm

John Hammond has been a blues fixture for decades and recently joined hallowed company as an inductee into the Blues Hall of Fame in 2011. The soulful GRAMMY® winner is the consummate triple threat musician (on vocals, guitar, and harmonica) whose roots-driven blues has influenced countless musicians, from Jimi Hendrix to Bob Dylan. Literally and figuratively Sir John Mayall is British blues royalty who hired among others Eric Clapton, Jack Bruce, and Mick Fleetwood back in the 1960s. At 78, he is an ageless wonder who plays with the same intensity today as he did when he first blazed a blues path around the world.

Free pre-concert music in the Atrium provided by Bryan Carter, Friday only.

Jazz Meets Flamenco

February 24-25, 7:30pm & 9:30pm

At first glance, jazz and flamenco may not appear to have a common musical ancestry. But beneath the surface, both share a common root born out of the traditional music and dance forms of West Africa. In this outstanding double bill, multitalented jazz guitarist Doug Wamble and flamenco guitar virtuoso Niño Josele will lead their respective ensembles through this rich interconnected musical territory. The two groups will also join forces to perform new music composed by Wamble especially for this concert. Featuring bassist John Benitez, percussionist Horatio "El Negro" Hernandez, flamenco dancer Juan De Juan, and tap dancer Jason Samuels Smith.

Free pre-concert music in the Atrium provided by Peter Reardon-Anderson.

Except where noted, all venues are located in Frederick P. Rose Hall, Home of Jazz at Lincoln Center, Broadway at 60th Street. Tickets: $10-$120
